Have you ever looked at a hot mess and paused to wonder? Well, that's the Koz effect. Those luscious curls leave girls dripping with envy all the while swooning over his angelic voice. Koz can take the most boring of situations and transform them into a party you'll likely want to forget.

Arthur always spoke with a lisp and spat a little when pronouncing "MUSIC". He spent much of his childhood in leg braces only to free himself of those contraptions after an incident with a pool noodle and a dill pickle. As a childhood friend of Lloyd's, the two immediately locked up the rhythm section with Arthur's impeccable precision thunder strumming.

The procreation of Jonny Kaos was a miracle. He grew up to become a musical virtuoso. He plays 9 different instruments including the skin flute. He once received the worst atomic wedgie which to this day leaves him walking pigeon toed.

Lloyd McLuvin always seemed to dance like the least coordinated of all dancers, yet, was able to keep the best rhythm on a set of drums. It perplexed those around him immensely, but it never deterred Lloyd from pursuing his dream of playing a full-sized drum set one day.

Cynthia has always been a bit of a shy girl. However, she loves to sing into virtually any microphone. She would always score a 4.0 GPA and was able to figure out how to get her lab partners to do her homework for her. Not one to suck and blow, Muffy blows bubbles with her favorite chewing gum- Hubba Hubba.

Joseph was always hurting himself as a child. Those that know him well cannot ever recall seeing him without some sort of cast or brace on. His mother kept him in bubble wrap for much of the time he spent outdoors. Joseph therefore chose to stay indoors where it was safer. This led him to taking up guitar, although he nearly lost an eye twice by a wayward guitar string. He mastered his guitar playing in between Dungeons and Dragons battles.
